

Dear Professor,

The World Allergy Organization is eager to see many of you in-person and we are pleased to invite you to our 2022 in-person meetings. While many obstacles remain, we are optimistic that 2022 will be a great year and one in which we can safely re-connect in-person.

We hope you are able to join us for our first opportunity to re-unite the global allergy and immunology community at the WAO-BSACI 2022 UK Conference, which will be held 25-27 April 2022 in Edinburgh, Scotland, United Kingdom. This joint meeting, in partnership with the British Society of Allergy and Clinical Immunology (BSACI), will be an excellent opportunity to socialize in-person in the incredible city of Edinburgh. We look forward to welcoming you and the global audience to Scotland next year!

We would also like to thank our Webinar sponsors and attendees for making our webinars in September and October a great success. However, if you were unable to attend the live sessions, you can still View the Webinar Recordings Online.

Lastly, I invite you to read the outstanding scientific articles from our Scientific Committees and other respected authors globally in the World Allergy Organization Journal, WAO's global Open Access journal, which is freely accessible online. The World Allergy Organization Journal has an impact factor of 4.084 and we encourage you to considering submitting your future papers in our journal.

Thank you once again for your commitment to your patients and communities as we continue to spread allergy awareness and education globally.

Best,

Motohiro Ebisawa, MD, PhD
President, World Allergy Organization
